THREE YOUTHS KILLED BY TRAFFIC

RIVERS LEAVE BANKS IN 3 STATES

Hundreds Marooned by Blizzards; Dust Also
Dots Weather Map

By the Associated Press

Continuous rains swelled important rivers today and drove residents of lowlands from their homes in Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia.

The Ohio climbed toward the 25-foot flood stage. Its tributaries, the Alleghany and Monongahela, which meet it at Pittsburgh, were at their highest since January. Some railroad tracks were in danger and merchants in the business district feared for cellar stocks.

The Potomac rose to six feet above flood stage. Merchants of the low-lying business section of Cumberland, Md., were taking cellar goods to upper floors. Water stood in the downtown streets, but was not high enough to seriously impede traffic.

The rain sent the Conemaugh and Stony Creek rivers to 17 feet, 3 inches and alarmed residents of Johnstown, Pa., scene of two disastrous floods in a half century, who began vacating their homes. Water rolled into the low streets and was edging toward the downtown section.

The weather bureau estimated a river stage of 35 feet would be reached at Pittsburgh tomorrow. This would be only 11 feet under the stage of the St. Patrick's day flood which cost Pennsylvania $200,000,000 in damage.

MISSING GIRL IS LOCATED

Axia Goodykoontz, former Balboa swimming star whose mysterious disappearance led officers to fear for her safety, has turned up in good health at El Paso, Tex. Hunted for more than two months after she disappeared from Palm Springs leaving a mysterious note, Miss Goodykoontz was located by officers in Texas on Saturday, according to a teletype message to Sheriff Logan Jackson.

A note found at the resort after she disappeared said she was going for a "long swim" and said her body never would be found. The teletype message which told of her being found gave no information as to her reason for disappearing.

SRA Load Drops 300 in Past Week

A drop of 300 cases was recorded in the SRA rolls during the past week.

Mrs. Katherine Handley, chief of the SRA staff in the county, announced today that the case load now is 1600 as compared with 1900 a week ago.

These 300 cases have been absorbed on private jobs and on WPA work relief projects. The case load is continuing to diminish.

Play Contest Cups Vanish

How come you do me like you do?

This might have been Mayor Fred Rowland's plaintive song Saturday night, but it wasn't. The mayor is a good sport, and if he's supposed to present cups, and there aren't any cups to present—well, that's not his fault!

Santa Ana's popular mayor played a role in a most impromptu drama at the Elbell clubhouse Saturday night, at the climax to the two-day session of the eleventh annual Southern California Tournament of One-Act Plays.

It was nearing midnight, and the final play had been staged. The thunder of applause had died away to a whisper, and the big audience sat quietly intent, awaiting the verdict of the judges.

The curtains rolled back after a considerable wait. Spectators fidgeted in their seats. The stage

Journal Want Ads Reach Those You Want to Contact

When a salesman calls on you and offers you something you know you need and want it doesn't take any great effort to get your order. He doesn't have to sell you the idea of buying what he offers. All he has to do is to convince you that his goods meet your needs and are worth the price asked.

A classified ad gets results the same way as the salesman who calls at the right time with the right goods. It automatically reaches those who want the goods or services you offer. Place your ad now—phone 3600.

SOLONS RIDE OUT STORM

Boat Carrying Party of Congressmen Is Damaged in Gale

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A congressional party returning from a tour of the Virginia peninsula docked safely, if somewhat belatedly, today after riding out two disastrous floods in a half century, who began vacating their homes. Water rolled into the low streets and was edging toward the downtown section.

The ship "District of Columbia," a 2100-ton boat, carrying Vice-President Garner and nearly a hundred senators and representatives, came in on schedule but the flood tide and winds delayed it an hour and a half in docking.

The ship ran into the full force of the gale almost immediately after leaving old Point Comfort, Va., where for two days the congressmen and their families made headquarters while touring the peninsula.

About 85 persons were at dinner at the time. A dozen or more were thrown from their seats among spilling dishes and overturning tables.

Wives of Two Injured
Mrs. Andrew J. May, wife of the representative from Kentucky, suffered a sprained wrist and chest bruises when a table struck her. Mrs. Ernest Lundeen, wife of the senator from Minnesota, said she was bruised slightly when a roll of the ship threw her across a stairway landing.

The vice-president, Senate Majority Leader Robinson and Mrs. Robinson narrowly escaped being in the dining salon debacle.

was set. Vice President W. H. Spurgeon of the Santa Ana Community Players sat at the left of the stage, Mayor Rowland at the right. In the center was Judge Havrah Hubbard of San Diego, who would review the plays and announce the winners.

A moment of heightened suspense. Then Mrs. Robert H. Horn, play tournament manager, stepped forward toward the footlights. She broke the news gently, and in a simple, yet dramatic, bank vaults for safekeeping, and then had gone on a trip to Mexico. At least this much was certain, President Hanson is in Mexico.

Others said the cups were still at the jeweler's, and everybody had thought somebody else would bring them.

But Mayor Rowland played his impromptu role in the unscheduled drama in true trouper manner. He presented the prize checks to the winning players, and they were very happy. Especially after being assured the shiny cups would be sent to them as promptly as possible.

And at the informal midnight reception which followed, the mayor had more fun than anybody else. He went around grinning to himself like a schoolboy.

GROCCERS MAY ADOPT NEW SCHEDULE

Uniform Hours Plan Is Studied by Markets in Santa Ana

Food markets of Santa Ana began consideration today of plans to join the parade of other retail stores adopting uniform closing hours.

Grocery stores are excluded from the program being carried out by most other types of retail stores, which went on the new store hour schedule today, opening at 9 a. m. and closing at 5:30 p. m.

Hours Shortened
But operators of big food markets here are interested in seeing uniform hours put across. Some of them, however, expressed doubt that such a program could be put into effect.

Alpha Beta stores have adopted new store hours, opening at 8 and closing at 6, making a store day one and a half hours shorter than previously. Some other markets keep considerably longer hours.

Along another line, smaller grocers affiliated with the Southern California Retail Grocers' association have launched a movement to obtain uniform closing hours.

To Discuss Plan
Ben Manker, manager of the Smart and Final company, said today that a meeting of the association would be held in Los Angeles when the program will be discussed.

The meeting was called by Secretary S. M. White to launch new efforts for the state legislature to pass a law regulating hours of operation of grocery stores. The feeling was expressed that this is the only way the objective can be reached.

1871 GEORGIA LAW VOIDED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The Supreme court declared unconstitutional today an 1871 Georgia law prohibiting insurrection against the state under which Angelo Herndon, Cincinnati negro Communist organizer, was sentenced to an 18 to 20 years penitentiary term.

Justice Roberts delivered the 5 to 4 decision holding that the law "violates the guarantees of liberty embodied in the 14th amendment." Justice van Devanter delivered a dissenting opinion in which Justices McReynolds, Sutherland and Butler joined.

The decision reversed a ruling by the Georgia supreme court upholding the statute which was passed during reconstruction days.

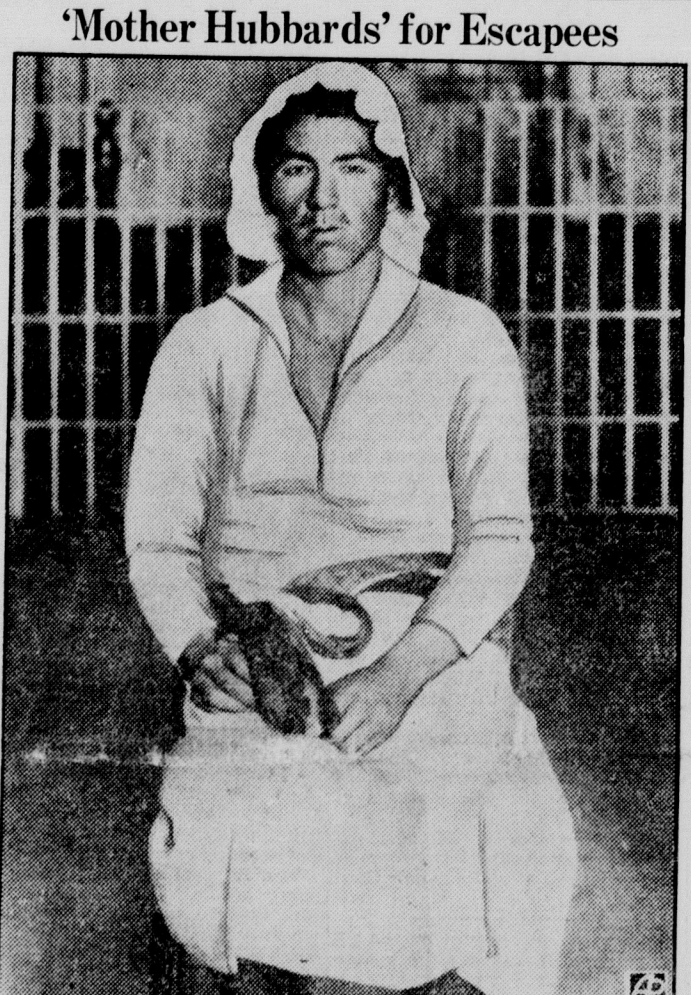

There were no signs of an agreement or modification, however, on the eve of the senate judiciary committee's first closed session on the court bill. The measure would permit appointment of six new justices if members over 70 do not retire.

Opponents have indicated they would fight all modifications to force a test vote on the bill as it stands.

Check-ups of committee members' present attitudes indicated that not more than nine were prepared to vote to report the bill favorably. If the committee should split finally along these lines, there would be a 9 to 9 draw, sending the bill to the senate without recommendations.

Book Criticizing Duke Is Banned

LONDON. (AP)—The Duke of Windsor won from his Austrian place of self-exile today a fight to have a British book about him taken out of circulation.

The publishers of "Coronation Commentary," it was disclosed, took not only the fast-selling volume from English bookshops but wrote the duke a note of apology.

That was upon the demand of the former monarch's attorney, who threatened legal action unless amends were made by today.

The action by the publishers came just on the eve of tomorrow's expiration of the six-months "probation period" necessary to make the divorce of Wallis Warfield Simpson final under English law.

Six months ago tomorrow, in the ancient town of Ipswich, the American fiancée of the Duke of Windsor obtained a preliminary divorce decree from Ernest Aldrich Simpson, and started the momentous events which were climaxed by Edward's abdication in December.

Her attorneys, within the next two weeks, will take the necessary steps to secure the divorce.

OFFER COURT BLOCKADE IS 'FAILURE'

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Senators who declined to be quoted by name said today an administration spokesman has discussed compromising the supreme court dispute by authorizing four new justices, but had turned down suggestions for only two.

There were no signs of an agreement or modification, however, on the eve of the senate judiciary committee's first closed session on the court bill. The measure would permit appointment of six new justices if members over 70 do not retire.

Opponents have indicated they would fight all modifications to force a test vote on the bill as it stands.

Check-ups of committee members' present attitudes indicated that not more than nine were prepared to vote to report the bill favorably. If the committee should split finally along these lines, there would be a 9 to 9 draw, sending the bill to the senate without recommendations.

EXCEED LAST YEAR'S TOP RECORD

Increase Instead of Decline Reported for First Time

Underground water levels in Orange county reached their peaks for the season today.

Huge quantities of water brought to the county in the unusually heavy rainstorms of this year have percolated to the underground strata.

Average well levels in the county are equal to the peaks of 1936. This is the first year in records of the Orange County Flood Control department that has shown an actual average increase instead of a decline.

Picture Changing
When heavy agricultural pumping starts, the levels will go down again, but they started this year at a point about the same or higher than last year instead of on a level below the last season, as has been the case heretofore.

The picture still is changing, and it is difficult to say if all water has percolated to the underground basin as yet. In some instances pressure of water up above has resulted in higher levels in wells in the lower part of the county. There are some cases where wells have not reached their high of a year ago.

The underground basin is at capacity levels above the Yorba bridge figures showed today. The greatest other changes were in the Atwood area below the Yorba bridge, where there is an average gain of 40 feet in well levels over the peak of last year. This water is continually moving down to lower areas.

Other Areas
In the spring, at this time of the year, the levels usually show a decline.

Between Anaheim and Olive on the west side of the Santa Ana river levels have not yet reached their peaks of last year. There is practically no change in the levels on the west side of the county in the Buena Park-Cypress district over last year. In the southwest part of the county, in the Westminster and Wintersburg areas, there is an average gain of about two feet.

There is an average gain of about one foot in the Talbert area. In the district northeast of Tustin levels have not yet reached the peak of last year, and southeast of Santa Ana there is a well shown gain of seven feet. Near the coast in the vicinity of the river there is an average gain of about a half foot over a year ago.

Stepin Fetchit Hurt in Crash

NEW YORK. (AP)—Stepin Fetchit, the drool negro stage and screen comic, was in a serious condition in Harlem hospital today as the result of a Sunday automobile accident.

Stepin Fetchit, in private life Lincoln Perry, 40, lost control of his automobile when a tire blew out and the machine crashed into an elevated railway pillar on Eighth avenue, in Harlem.

The "lazybones" comedian, who lives in New York when not in Hollywood, was alone in the car. A patrolman took him to the hospital in a taxicab. He had a possible fractured skull and other injuries.

Relief Clients Stage 'Sit-Down'

SAN ANTONIO. (AP)—Two hundred relief and WPA clients started a sit-down demonstration in city hall today after their demands for permission to hold a May day parade were denied.

Miss Emma Tenayuca, their spokesman, said the strikers would remain until Mayor C. K. Quinn arrived. Attaches expressed doubt the mayor would visit his office today.

Farmer Near Death After 48-Day Fast; Still Refuses Food

STOOPING OAK, Tenn. (AP)—Hollow cheeked Jackson Whitlow, the religious faster of the Cumberlands, today challenged the predictions of doctors that his death was near by whispering—"No undertaker is going to get me. The Lord is saving me for a purpose."

Weighing only 100 pounds—he weighed 137 when he started his fast 48 days ago "at the call of the Lord"—the 45-year-old farmer said he would not eat again until he "hears from the Lord."

Dr. J. B. Smith of Dunlap examined Whitlow Saturday and said he believed the gaunt farmer "has only a few days to live."

25,000 Rail, Shipping Workers Threaten Walkout There

By the Associated Press
President Roosevelt today acted to halt a threatened walkout of 25,000 railroad and shipping employees in metropolitan New York as thousands of automobile workers in the United States and Canada returned to their jobs, ending strikes.

The President appointed an emergency board of three to attempt settlement of a dispute between rival unions seeking to represent the rail and shipping employees. The strike, called by the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees, had been set to start at noon, but was postponed 48 hours on account of the President's action.

The International Longshoremen's association has disputed the brotherhood's desire to represent the 25,000 workers. The brotherhood had demanded also a 20-cent an hour increase in wages.

At Oshawa, Ont., 3700 men and women workers, their pay raised and hours shortened, returned to their tasks at a General Motors corporation plant, marking the end of a 16-day strike.

Automobile assembly workers employed in the Ford Motor company plant at Richmond, Calif., were scheduled to return also after a short sit-down strike which closed the plant Friday.

At Detroit, Mich., a sit-down strike closed the plant of Parke Davis & Co., large pharmaceutical firm. Employees demanded higher wages and union recognition. The company employs 2100 workers.

COURT TO RULE ON SECURITY

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The supreme court agreed today to review a test case to determine the constitutionality of the old age pension provision of the federal social security act.

It postponed a final decision at least until next Monday on validity of the unemployment insurance provisions of the federal act and of supplementary legislation passed by states.

Fifteen opinions were read today by the justices in a two-hour session.

Sugar Export Pact Reached

LONDON. (AP)—The international sugar conference reached a tentative agreement today, allocating a total world export figure of 3,500,000 tons annually.

The total was about 200,000 tons larger than previous top estimates.

The negotiating committee began drafting an agreement expected to be signed this week.

INJURIES TO 26 OTHERS REPORTED

Crowded Highways and Speed Responsible for Many Mishaps

Three young men, none of them yet 20 years old, were dead today as the result of week-end county traffic accidents.

Another youth, just 20, lies at the point of death in St. Joseph's hospital. Twenty-six others were injured in traffic.

Donald Wiernman, 19, Anaheim, was killed yesterday afternoon in a crash on West Seventeenth street beyond Westminster, and five others were seriously injured. Vern Oliver Adams, 20, route 4, Los Angeles, driver of the car in which young Wiernman was riding, is in a critical condition. Also taken to the hospital after the crash were Bessie L. Groom, 41, Los Angeles; George Walker, 32, Los Angeles, driver of the other car; Elita Thurman, 20, and Eva Thurman, 18, Placentia.

BUDGET BATTLE IN ASSEMBLY

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Republican versus Democrat was the order of business pending before the lower house of the legislature today as it took up, for passage, Governor Merriam's budget bill whittled down from $448,000,000 to $438,000,000.

Republican members of the house are displeased with the manner in which the bill was moved out of committee with a "do pass" recommendation. Action of the committee followed a Democratic caucus and the majority of members were Democrats.

The budget has been termed by the latter as a "political budget" and the efforts of the Democrats to "kick it back" into the lap of Governor Merriam has been called by the Republicans an "ill-advised piece of political strategy."

Cannery Strike Confab Called

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Governor Merriam today was awaiting word of the arrival of the groups who are to confer with him in his renewed effort to settle the Stockton cannery strike today before fixing the definite hour the conference will begin.

Representatives of striking cannery workers and cannery hoped to bring peace to the embattled front where rioting began Friday injuring 63 persons.

The governor announced a committee of strikers, headed by Dudley Sargent, president of the newly-formed Cannery Workers' union, chartered by the American Federation of Labor, and the cannerymen, led by J. Paul St. Sure, would meet with him to attempt settlement of the issue.

TABOR TO BE SENTENCED FRIDAY

Faces Prison Term as He Is Convicted on Arson Charges

The gloomy prospect of prison walls loomed again today for Edward R. Tabor, former Huntington Beach and Los Angeles capitalist, who was convicted Saturday for the second time on arson charges. A jury in Superior Judge G. K. Scovel's court found him guilty Saturday afternoon on one count of arson and one count of conspiracy to commit arson, arising from the burning of his apartment house in Huntington Beach in 1932. The jury was out 27 hours before returning the verdict.

Sentence Friday

Tabor, ill and aging, was allowed at liberty under $10,000 bond to await Friday morning, when he is to come before Superior Judge G. K. Scovel for pronouncement of judgment. The state law provides a term of from one to 10 years in prison.

A year ago Tabor was convicted of the same charge, but won a new trial on appeal. The district court of appeal held that he should have been allowed at the first trial to explain why he hired an attorney for John Rose, who was convicted in 1933 of arson in connection with the same fire.

Explain Attorney

At his second trial Tabor maintained that he hired the attorney because Rose had threatened to accuse him of the crime unless he gave that aid.

Defense Attorneys Milburn Harvey and Don Harwood contended that Rose had taken furniture from the apartment house and set it afire to hide the theft.

District Attorney W. F. Menton and Deputy District Attorney Preston Turner, who prosecuted, contended that Tabor arranged for the burning in order to collect insurance, and that he hired an attorney for Rose in order to hide his own guilt.

Thirteenth Juror

Mrs. Virginia L. Brand, chosen as the thirteenth or alternate juror, to serve if any of the usual 12 were incapacitated, became the first alternate juror in Orange county to be kept in custody while the jury deliberated.

Judge Scovel ordered the bailiff to keep her segregated under a new state law. Previously alternate jurors were dismissed as soon as the jury retired, but it is now necessary to hold alternates until a verdict is reached.

POLICE REPORTS

When Lyle Baker, route 2, Santa Ana, came to get his car from its parking place near 114 East Bishop street last night, he found it was missing. Reporting at the police station, he found that the car, reported as blocking a driveway, had been towed to a garage. Baker signed a citation and got the car.

Edward Knapp, 504½ North Main street, told police he was badly beaten Thursday night as he walked to his hotel from a downtown cafe. He was unable to identify his assailant.

Arrested after a free-for-all which resulted in some damaged fixtures at the Phil Zlackert beer parlor at Fourth and Artesia streets, four Mexicans were taken to the county jail yesterday afternoon on peace disturbance charges. They are Cruz Perez and John Torres, 2304½ West Fifth street, and Mickey and Cyril Orocco, 1845 West Eighth street.

C. N. Peterson, 1027 South Main street, reported his automobile had been stolen from Los Angeles auto parking lot Saturday night.

So great has the interest in the case become that an attorney has been appointed to give out statements to interested persons.

GOOSE-LAX IS GOBBLED

Legion Bird Meets Sad Fate

A bunch of local Legionnaires smacked guilty lips today. Every one of them knew what had happened to the pestiferous Legion membership mascot, Goose-Lax. They knew, because they helped gobble the goose at a dinner party last night.

The goose disappeared under mysterious circumstances last week. Stanley Reinhaus swore he had given the bird to Otto Jacobs. Jacobs vowed that he knew nothing about the gadding gander.

So Detective Sergeant Hunter Leach was assigned to the case and scoured the city for Goose-Lax. He caught up with him last night, and helped eat him up.

Innocently enough, Jacobs had invited a group to a Sunday dinner. When the main dish was served last night, a big placard mounted on the toasted breast of a big goose announced that "This is Goose-Lax." The Legionnaires were horror-stricken, of course. But not to the extent that they didn't enjoy the dinner.

The idea behind the goose was that every Legionnaire had to play nursemaid to the goose until he got a new member. Then he could wish it off on another Legion member.

Those who saw to it that Goose-Lax would bring gray hairs to no more Legionnaires last night included Commander Cy Featherly, Hunter Leach, Phil Tele, Francis Jacoby, Lawrence Eaton, Frank Cook, Harold Brown, Clay Minix, Stanley Reinhaus, Robert Walker, Bob Sandon and Elmer Sullivan. Jacobs, of course, was the host.

Wrestling Class Starts at 'Y'

With 10 young men definitely enrolled, the class in wrestling led by Dick Mather at the Y. M. C. A. was off on a good start today. Tuesday and Thursday evenings have been chosen by the men as their time to get together, and plans are shaping up for the development of a wrestling team that will win favor for itself.

Mather will welcome a few additional men of the lower weights. Any young men under 150 pounds will be especially welcome in the class, although all weights can be used.

If the men develop as he expects them to it is the plan to enter representatives in the Southern California Y. M. C. A. wrestling meet to be held in Los Angeles this summer.

Breaks Record For Fly Casting

R. G. (Dick) Miller, president of the Huntington Beach Scientific Fly Casting club, broke two world records in casting events on the dedication program of the new municipal fisherman's pool there yesterday.

Miller's cast of a dry fly of 143 feet broke the existing record by one foot, although the new mark will not be recognized, as it was not made in competition. His 177-foot cast of a salmon fly broke the present record by five feet.

More than 1000 persons attended the dedication of the new $3000 pool, said to be the largest in Southern California.

SUFFERS BURNS

Burned about the legs and body when a hot motor car ignited fluid with which he was cleaning the engine, Ervin Abolt, 1414 Cypress street, was given first aid treatment yesterday by firemen who extinguished the blaze.

FORUM SUBJECT IS TAXATION

Santa Anans will be provided an opportunity to hear Ernest R. Bryan in the last of the local public forums tonight in the high school auditorium.

Bryan has chosen "More or Less Taxation" as his subject. His lecture will deal with the various types and methods of taxation. Under the federal tax program, the speaker will discuss the tariff and custom duties; inheritance, personal, and corporation income taxes, and sales, excise, and payroll taxes as embodied in the social security act.

The federal forums project will be brought to a close in this county April 29, when the final weekly lecture programs will be held in Brea and Garden Grove, according to the schedule of Acting Director W. W. Weiman.

Frank A. Henderson, administrator of the county project, indicated it is hardly probable that the forums will be reopened next fall, because of a definite limitation of funds available for the purpose.

Furthermore, many other communities are applying for forum projects, he said, and "it seems hardly likely that Orange county can expect to be served again."

Plaintiff Gets Crash Damages

G.O.P. PLANS ATTACK ON BOURBONS

Hamilton to Give Four Radio Speeches to 'Revive' Party

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The decision of Republican Chairman John D. Hamilton to break his silence on political affairs forecast a change today in the party's recent policy of letting Democrats argue national issues among themselves.

Hamilton said he would deliver on Saturday night the first of four radio speeches in successive weeks. "I have done a great deal of listening in the last six months," he said. "All over the country I find the old lines of political allegiance shifting and new lines forming."

Developments Rapid
"Political developments since the election have been rapid and important. It seems to me the time has come to look at the new political picture, to re-examine the old, and to discuss the position and attitude of the Republican party in the changed set-up."

Hamilton was one of the Republican leaders who counseled against any efforts to make the President's court proposal a partisan issue.

Consequently the 16 Republican senators and 88 Republican representatives have made only occasional criticisms of the measure, although nearly all have indicated they would vote against it.

Republican legislators have been more outspoken on President Roosevelt's economy appeal than on almost any other subject this session.

They endorsed his demand last week for a reduction of government expenses.

Minority members of the house have confined speechmaking, in fact, largely to administration spending policies.

Republican headquarters here, reduced to a skeleton staff after the November election, were augmented recently by the employment of William R. Castle and William Hard as special assistants to Hamilton.

Bull Drafted for Spring Work on Farm

San Bernardino gave a royal welcome to the Townsendites and the municipal auditorium was jammed to the doors with 3500 people on hand to greet Dr. Townsend. One hundred and thirty-five Townsendites, including the 35 members of the NYA band of Orange county, sat down to a potluck dinner in Court street Townsend headquarters. A line of march was formed and headed by the band and the Townsendites paraded to the municipal auditorium.

The NYA band, under the direction of T. Dunstan Collins, entertained with a concert at the hall previous to the doctor's arrival. Mayor Johnson gave the address of welcome. District Manager J. H. Walsh was master of ceremonies. Rev. S. L. Wingert of Yucaipa and Herbert P. Kenny of Santa Ana were leaders of community singing. Doctor Townsend told of intentions to immediately place able Townsend organizers in all congressional districts represented by the 16 members of the ways and means committee who voted against giving the Townsend bill a hearing. He told of his intention to spend one million dollars in organization work in districts where congressmen had from, who are particularly antagonistic to the Townsend plan.

Roy Webb told of the wonderful reception which had been given the doctor in the places they had lately visited, and the large amount of money that is pouring into headquarters, toward the five million dollar fund being raised.

Rev. Rex Barr of Long Beach was greeted by 20 Townsendites yesterday afternoon in the Santa Ana Townsend theater. J. H. Walsh was master of ceremonies and Grant Henderson led the community singing. Mrs. Dell Benton of Tustin was the afternoon pianist. Rex Barr and J. H. Walsh both brought fine messages.

LONDON FEARS BUS STRIKE

LONDON, (AP)—The British government moved today to avert a threatened strike by London's 40,000 bus men which might bring a major transportation tie-up while the city is jammed with coronation crowds.

Officials of the ministry of labor's conciliation department scheduled conferences with members of the traffic and transport board and with representatives of the Transport and General Workers' Union.

They hoped at least to get the bus men to agree to a truce until after King George is crowned May 12.

Some 2500 bobbies have been instructed to operate more than 50 bus routes. Presumably they would not strike. The bus employees want a 7½-hour working day, compared with their present eight-hour day.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, (AP)—Fresh gold rumors, combined with larger than usual foreign selling, pulled the pros from under today's stock market. Heavy offerings occasionally put the ticker tape behind, and leading issues dropped to more than 5 points at the worst. There was some comeback before the close, but volume lightened perceptibly on the recovery.

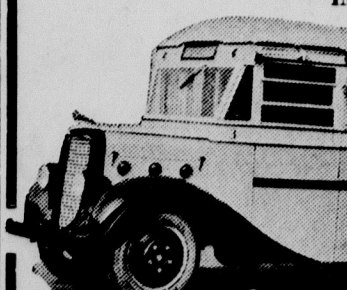

The White House denied any statement regarding the gold question was in the offing, but no great amount of stock buying followed. Stocks picked up a bit following official estimates placing current oil operations as a top issue again, 1937. Actual tonnage was at a record. Follow:

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

Well, here's a usual Monday. This department hasn't traveled much, so there isn't a terrible lot to put down on paper. Unless you're interested in fishing.

If all goes well, we'll tell you a bit about the gentle sport, and hand out two of Editor Verner Beck's poems, seeing as he failed to write a Sermon for Chills in his Coastline Dispatch at San Juan Capistrano this week. One of these poems is comical and the other tragic, you figure out which. They'll pop up somewhere down the line, so be expecting 'em!

First, however, I suppose we should say something about San Clemente's big barbecue next Saturday.

There, pippies, is going to be a shindig! I understand they've ordered 300 steaks, which will be charcoaled in the new pit in the new slice of a park on a new road leading to the old beach in the Spanish Village. I understand New Mayor Mulholland's more or less in charge, ably assisted by Old Mayor Henry (Turkey) Fate. They really have built a beautiful place for cooking an occasional evening meal. All the necessities for a fine evening, if you care to take advantage of it. Just ask anyone in San Clemente where it is!

I think it's part of the state park system, although not sure. But I see Charlie Hight mixed up in next Saturday's affair, so I guess it must be.

But it probably will be a perfect dedication of a perfect park. I'm going!

Here's poem No. 1. Take a look!

ODE TO A BROKEN SHOE LACE

Faithful, slender string of lace
With task so menial, humble, low;
Tie that binds the shoe to foot,
Ornament 'tween heel and toe.
Unobtrusive slave you seem
Faithful to the dogs of man;
Knotted to your chole all day
Doing all a shoe lace can.
But alas your treacherous soul
Once too often comes awake;
Then what do you, O Judas, do,
Why, of course, you have to break.
Oh, the grief, the woe, the curse,
The sin that mortal men abhor,
When shoe lacing afoot break
With taxi waiting at the door.

Now for a very wet subject. Piscatorial pursuits over the weekend.

The Gaines navy went into action shortly after dawn yesterday, and stayed in action, not counting a few breakdowns in the ailing engine department, until almost dark. No fish, if you're interested, except a few barracuda, but it was an awfully nice day!

Dana Point, from the water side, seems to be very crowded. I didn't see Dave Foster, but about everyone else. Counted 81 boats at one time, all chasing one poor, miserable little fish. Terrible! But all present seemed to be having a good time.

There were 18 live-bait boats, all crowded. One purse seiner, looking as out of place as a newspaperman at a prayer meeting, and the rest private boats, trolling. Everyone had fun galloping around, trying to catch fish and unwinding seaweed from fishing gear and propellers. It was a perfect day on the water, although tough on tender skins.

But what I was trying to lead up to was the beer can situation. Remember the huge howlings concerning the tin can containers along highways? It's about as bad on the ocean. Hundreds of the shining cans bob on the water, making a path to many of the boats. They peek coyly from behind clumps of seaweed and bob up unexpectedly behind dignified looking craft. There ought to be a law!

It's getting so a guy isn't safe anywhere, these days!

With the beer can beef off the chest, we'll close with the other Beck masterpiece. This is a gruesome bit about coyotes and mocking laughter and things. Here:

ALONE WITH THE DEAD

She stared about at the vast expanse.

With no other soul in sight,
As day drew down the curtain
In greeting to the night.
"Don't die!" she screamed in frenzy.

And the coyote's vibrant call
Came back in mockingly laughter
From secluded mountain's wall.
"I can't! I can't go on alone!"

"Don't die! You can't!" she cried;
But only echo came to taunt her
Fateful mockery at her side.

She knelt there in the gloaming
While tears welled in her eyes
And her prayerful, soulful praying
Rose in passion to the skies.

Ne'er had lonely plain or foothill
Or desert's sacred air
Or beast or vale or hillside
Heard such a heart-torn prayer.

"Don't die!" Her voice was broken;
Wierd truths ensconced her head,
She screamed, the scream of madmen,
Yes, the battery was dead.

ORANGE BUILDING FIGURE DOUBLES IN HOME CAMPAIGN

APRIL SHOWS HUGE GAIN IN TOTAL

Permits Issued for Six New Residences as Record Sighted

ORANGE.—Ushering in the chamber of commerce drive for many new homes in Orange was the announcement today by Building Inspector Frank Dale that building totals for the month of April are nearly double those of the same month last year.

Permits for six new homes were issued this month for a total of $27,600, boosting the total for the month to $31,945, as compared to $15,955 in April, 1936, he said. Total building for this year is $55,945.

Chamber officials have issued an appeal for more rental property in Orange, pointing out that many prospective residents are turned away because of lack of homes. A meeting is scheduled for tomorrow for completion of the home-building program, it was announced.

One Orange realtor reported Saturday that as high as five families daily are going elsewhere to seek homes. This situation will be corrected as soon as the chamber drive is started, officials said.

Work was started Friday on the new grandstand in the $23,000 Orange ball park as another community development. City Inspector Dale announced that since his books were closed Saturday permits have been issued for remodeling homes of G. L. Stiff, 222 East La Veta avenue and F. E. Harrison, 469 North Olive street.

His feet were odd, padlike things. He felt his knees crumpling under him. He sank to the floor.

Ah, that was better. He could lie here like this, curled up so that the pain in his side grew numb. Maybe it was only a dream.

"It's not a dream! It's true—it's true!" he brain hammered.

Gradually, as he lay there his mind cleared and, for the first time in his life, he saw himself as he really was—indifferent to everything except his own selfish impulses. He thought of the humiliation this latest of his escapades would bring to his family—and worse, to Martha. He writhed as imaginary headlines flashed before him with startling clearness.

"Nick! Nick! Shot as Love Pirate on Wedding Eve—Dancer's Husband Takes Revenge on Famed Playboy."

Other business men thereabouts also were reported drawing up plans for additions to their premises, and new building on lots long vacant. Many second story additions to one-story stores were talked of.

FUGITIVE BRIDE by RUTH LOUISE AYERS

CHAPTER XXXI
NICK stirred on the bed. Jab of pain tore at his side, forcing him awake. He opened his eyes and stared at the ceiling, then around the room.

Everything was strange and blurred. His head throbbed painfully and he felt as though he were on fire. Where was he? What had happened?

His eyes lit on a flask of whiskey on a table beside the bed. Perhaps he had a terrific hang-over and needed a pick-me-up. His hand shook so that he had to try again before he could grasp the flask. He managed to get it to his lips and took a swallow of the burning liquor.

Slowly, vaguely, memory of what had happened came to him in jerky, off-focus pictures.

He remembered, "I've got to get out of here," he muttered. "Sultan! Where are you?"

He called the name aloud again and again, waiting for the chauffeur-valet to answer. But there was no answer. He remembered then, that Sultan had quit him somewhere in a storm, bawling him out for being such a fool.

Conference events included a basketball tournament, one of the directors of which was Manuel Salcido, Orange. Others who attended were Gustav Felix, Stevens Reyes, Benny Pastrana, Salvador Rodriguez, Salvador Martinez, Pete Ramirez and Manuel Delgado.

He struggled up, propping himself on an elbow.

"But I'm going to be married on Monday—to Martha Halliday. A big church wedding."

Demons danced before his eyes. One of them leered at him, started talking to him.

"But you can't marry Martha—you promised you were going with Nita. And then she fellow came and told you he was her husband. He called you a cad. Then Nita came, and the poor guy tried to shoot himself. You grabbed the gun, and the bullet grazed you. Now do you remember?"

"Nonsense!" Nick shouted, and started out of bed.

His feet were odd, padlike things. He felt his knees crumpling under him. He sank to the floor.

Ah, that was better. He could lie here like this, curled up so that the pain in his side grew numb. Maybe it was only a dream.

LOPEZ, STEINKE CLASH IN 'NATURAL' HERE

Column Left

Edward Morris, 16 years young, has been burning up the cinders at Huntington Beach High school. As a Class B, he has rambled over the "century" in 9.9 secs., a time few varsity sprinters attain.

Will the Oilers use this fresh-meat's speed to advantage in football? We doubt it.

Morris is willing; says he likes the game, and will report in the fall.

Al Reboin, who will be starting his second term as coach of the Oilers, can easily reserve a place on his varsity eleven for Morris, but he won't.

Neither Reboin nor Harry (Cap) Sheue, track mentor, will encourage the young sprinter to report for football. He's a fine sprinter, and his coaches want to bring him along carefully.

The Citrus Belt league, Sammy Saint will discover, does things differently than the all-powerful Coast League.

For instance, the inlanders play all of their football games on Friday instead of Saturday to avoid conflict with the "big" games in the Los Angeles Coliseum. They sponsor no Class B or C teams, but have a freshman-sophomore league instead.

Unlike the Coast league, the Citrus Belt moguls have found it difficult to drum up interest in baseball. Pomona and San Bernardino are the only schools with teams this season. Chaffey, Riverside and Redlands, it seems, have abandoned the sport for various reasons. If this setup continues next year, the Saints may find themselves in the C. I. F.'s playoffs—a feat they have never accomplished in the Coast league.

Joe Rodgers probably felt "hurt" when Skipper "Doc" Smith of the Stars picked Anaheim over Joe's Southern California champion Oilers for this department last week. Smith rated them this way: 1, Anaheim; 2, Huntington Beach; 3, Santa Ana; 4, Orange; 5, Westminster; 6, Long Beach.

If those selections embarrassed Rodgers, the fiery shortstop-manager probably will be shocked to learn that Smith now places his Stars in a second-place tie with the Oilers.

John Wilcox, business manager, believes the Stars could have combined the entire southern coast without finding a steeper gunner than Earl Morrill. Give the Earl a partner who can go three or four innings, and Santa Ana's pitching problems will be solved, Wilcox believes.

Carl Langmade, all-county footballer and hurdler while attending Newport harbor a year ago, has given up athletics since entering Troy. Reason, he's taking a pre-med course which leaves no time for anything except study.

DONS, SAINTS PLAY BREA

Brea-Olinda will furnish the next baseball opposition for Santa Ana High school and Junior college.

Blanchard Beatty took his Donnie to Brea at 3 p. m. today to prepare his junior collegians for an Eastern conference assignment with Chaffey's Panthers at Ontario Friday afternoon.

Joe Koegler will escort his Saints to Brea tomorrow afternoon to keep his preps in shape for their Coast league finale with Long Beach Woodrow Wilson's crack Bruins at Poly field here Friday afternoon.

HIXON ANNEXES JONES' GOLF

AVALEON, Calif. (AP)—The huge "Bobby Jones" trophy awarded the winner of Santa Catalina Island's annual amateur golf tournament, rested today in the possession of Young Frank Hixon of Pasadena.

Hixon hung up a sub par 64-63-127 on the par 66 course and withstood the siege of Southern California's best amateur shotmakers.

Osborn, Illinois star of the post-war decade, leaped 6 feet, 6 inches in 1922. Since then, plenty of tall, leggy boys have made passes at the mark, but when the competition was there, the weather wasn't.

Rain, wind and near-freezing temperatures came to the rescue of Osborn's record again Saturday in the 28th presentation of the Midwest's relay classic.

Oilers Sign Sabella, Trim Hanford Twice

VALLEY NINE BEATEN 6-1 AND 13-8

McKinley Hits Home Run With Bases Bulging; Stars vs. Colton

Frank (Chico) Sabella, who has speed and a change of pace, was a full-fledged member of Huntington Beach's Oilers today, as the defending Southern California nightball champions celebrated their sixth and seventh straight victories, scored in a doubleheader at Hanford over the week-end.

Manager Joe Rodgers placed Sabella's signature on a contract just before the righthander pitched the National league invaders to a 6-1 victory at Hanford Saturday night. The triumph gave the Oilers a clean sweep. With Elwynn (Fuzzy) Errington on the mound, they coasted to a 13-8 victory Friday night.

The Sabella-Errington-Eckenroth hurling staff, added to virtually the same defensive lineup of last year, in a 13-8 victory at Huntington Beach as the "team to beat" again in the '37 race opening May 11. Some observers favor Anaheim, but it is generally agreed that Huntington Beach deserves the top spot, particularly since the Oilers now have the great Sabella in the fold.

Centerfield Orv Schuchardt shoved the Oilers off to a good start in the first game at Hanford with a long home run in the first inning, but the pay-off came in the fourth when Bill McKinley hit for the circuit with the bases loaded.

The Stars played a close game, but the Oilers' defense was too good for them. The Stars picked Anaheim over Joe's Southern California champion Oilers for this department last week. Smith rated them this way: 1, Anaheim; 2, Huntington Beach; 3, Santa Ana; 4, Orange; 5, Westminster; 6, Long Beach.

Rejoins Champions

Frank (Chico) Sabella, mainstay of the Huntington Beach Oilers' pitching staff before the advent of Louie (The Great) Neva, has rejoined the Southern California nightball champions after three years' absence. He signed with the team in Hanford Saturday.

WAR ADMIRAL QUOTED 5-1 FOR DERBY

NEW YORK. (AP)—Having established himself as an outstanding Kentucky Derby threat, Samue, Riddle's War Admiral departed today for the scene of America's most famous horse race as the second choice in the future books.

Already rated high off his two-year-old form, the trim brown son of Man O' War scored a galloping victory Saturday in the mile and a sixteenth of the Chesapeake stakes at Havre de Grace.

As the result of the brilliant performance, Frank Shannon of New York, layer of future book odds, quoting him at 5 to 1, only a notch above J. H. Louchenbach's Pompon, the 4 to 1 favorite. Even Mrs. Ethel V. Marx Reaping Reward and E. R. Bradley's Brooklyn gave way to War Admiral in the quotations as they remained firm at 6 and 8 to 1, respectively.

War Admiral jumped into an early lead in the Chesapeake, and the farther he went, the greater his margin, until at the end he was six lengths in front of Townsend B. Martin's Court Scandal, winner of the $20,000 Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah Park. Despite Court Scandal's defeat, his odds were cut from 30 to 20 to 1.

Court Scandal was scheduled to leave for the Downs either today or tomorrow while William D. Pierce (WW), second choice, will head off the Fair Hill. The winner of the $50,000 Santa Anita handicap wound up fifth in the Chesapeake.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. McClure won a knock-and-sock tournament in Santa Ana Country club golf with a net 145 yesterday. Second was Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hall with a 148. In ladies' championship play, Mrs. C. V. Doty defeated Miss Louella Mead, 1 up on 19th hole. Mrs. Hugh Shields def. Mrs. Don An. 1 up. Mrs. Harry Bakre def. Mrs. Jack Colburn, 1 up, and Mrs. Paul Hall def. Mrs. F. C. Drumm, 1 up. Mrs. R. G. Crenshaw, Mrs. E. H. Guthrie, Mrs. J. K. McDonald and Mrs. C. H. Chapman drew byes.

Don Lash Has Just Started to Run, Says Coach Hayes

PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—He is the National A. A. U. cross-country champion. He holds the world record at two miles. He has a share in the new world record of 17:16.1 for the four-mile relay. He has his credit victory at a mile over two such veteran campaigners as Luigi Beccali of Italy and Gene Venzke of the New York A. C.

Hayes dove into his mental record book, came up with statistics showing that Don's best mile was the 4 min. 10.7 secs. he ran last year, that his best 850 was 1:55. He indicated that, in the next two years, his sandy-haired, competently built, pleasant-faced prize pupil should be able to improve appreciably on those times.

SANITS RAIL MOOR, BRUI TRACKMEN

Coast Prep League Track Finals Scheduled For Long Beach Saturday

Long Beach Woodrow Wilson and Alhambra will wage a bitter two-team fight for the varsity track-and-field championship of the Coast Preparatory league, but Santa Ana's Saints, Class B dual meet champions, will cut a fancy figure in the lightweight division.

Finals will be held on Stephens field, Long Beach, next Saturday afternoon. The Bruins and Moors dominated the varsity trials at Long Beach last Saturday.

Santa Ana qualified 14 boys in the track event of all these divisions, and two others placed in the Class C field event finals.

Outstanding for the Saints was Melvin Barron's second in a 15.5 secs. flight of varsity high hurdles.

He Stabs for Ball But Catches a Sparrow Instead

ST. LOUIS. (AP)—If anyone asks how he controls the St. Louis Cardinals, Coach Clyde (Buzzy) Wares can claim it comes natural to him.

He has a newspaper clipping to prove that once, in his playing days, he made a flying one-hand stab for the ball and captured a sparrow instead.

WHITE TRIMS RANNEY FOR NET TITLE

Thoburn (Toby) White is the new singles champion of the Santa Ana Tennis club's annual handicap tournament.

Consolation honors went to Harry Nissley, who eliminated Polly Angne, 6-1, 6-2, in finals, after defeating Gordon Knight, 6-0, 11-9. Angne put out Julius Lowenstein in semi-finals, 3-6, 6-3, default.

The Orange county eliminations of the National Public Parks tournament will be conducted in Santa Ana late next month. Lewis Wetherell, now a star at U. S. C., won here last summer, and then copied the national singles title in St. Louis, Mo.

The paper said the university board of regents, meeting in executive session Sunday night, decided to offer Shipkey, one-time all-America end at Stanford University, the position left open when Gwyn Henry resigned to become athletic director at the University of Kansas.

Shipkey was expected to arrive here today to confer with the board.

SECOND SHUT OUT BOOSTS 'DIZ' DEAN

Cards' Ace Righthander Bears Down to Blank Chicago Cubs, 4-0

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The folks may be fed up with Dizzy Dean's wacky words and daffy doings, but it's a safe bet no one in St. Louis is going to mind much as long as the great one keeps fogging 'em in.

With all his eccentric antics, Diz's good right arm is still the most valuable piece of pitching bric-a-brac in the business today. Just as "King Carl" Hubel demonstrated last week that he is back with all his stuff for this year's wars, so has Dizzy the Great left little doubt in two starts that he is the No. 1 figure in the Cards' title hopes.

All of which adds up to a continuation of the most famous pitching warfare of the current diamond era, between the Giants' crack left-hander, who pitched a three-hitter in his first start, and the Gas House Gang's overworked right-hand ace, with two victories to his credit to date.

His first time out, Diz just toyed with the Cincinnati Reds and finished all the way on top. Yesterday he was really bearing down against the Cards' dangerous rivals, Chicago Cubs, but the result was unchanged. He allowed four scattered hits, struck out 10, let only one man get as far as third, and waltzed in with a 4-0 shutout, his second whitewashing.

The victory left the Cards with four victories in five starts, just half a game back of Pittsburgh's powerful Pirates, whose game at Cincinnati was rained out.

The Giants, defending the National league pennant, lost a chance to move into the top with Pittsburgh by undergoing their customary disastrous habit of failing to get runs for their pitchers. Rookie Cliff Melton turned in a six-hitter and fanned 13 men for the year's record, only to have the Boston Bees catch up with him for a pair of runs in the ninth and post a 3-1 win. The victory ended Boston's 38-inning runless streak and finished a four-game string of losses.

Yanks Tie Detroit
The New York Yankees opened with all their guns and battered the Red Sox and temperamental Wes Ferrell for a 13-hit 9-3 win in Boston. The victory gave Murderers Row a second-place league tie with Detroit's Tigers, who found Vernon Kennedy's strike-out ball too tough and went down before the White Sox, 11-7, for their first setback. These results left Connie Mack's Athletics at the top of the heap with three wins in four starts, since the A's were rained out at Washington.

Brooklyn and the Phillies put on their customary queer assortment of baseball doings, with the daffy Dodgers finishing in front, 10-6, in one of the day's two 11-inning games, after being on the short end of a 6-1 count as late as the sixth frame, when the Grand Central Market (1936 champions), Elks, M. E. South, Commercial National bank and Montgomery Ward's.

"Jeff" Jefferson will be back of the plate. Fred Wiener on first, Maurice (Buck) White on second, Clarence (Tommy) on shortstop and Vincent McDonald on third comprise the Carpenters' infield. Brownie, Davis and Swafford will be in the outfield.

Raids by foxes in Scotland are the worst in 30 years, hundreds of lambs being killed or wounded.

Gonzales of Troy Seeks 19th Win

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Joe Gonzales, Southern California's pitching ace, started after his 19th consecutive league victory today against the University of California at Los Angeles baseball team.

The Missions took the first game, 7 to 6, and then lost the second, 6 to 4 in Oakland; Los Angeles took an 11-inning opener from the Portland Beavers, 4 to 3, and then the Beavers turned the tables in the second game, 5 to 1.

Coast Leaguers Pound Out 13 Home Runs in 151 Hits

Pacific Coast league batsmen rested today after an orgy of bashing Sunday. They collected 151 hits in eight games, including 13 homers, 11 in the San Francisco-Seattle doubleheader.

Sunday's games did little to change the league standings as all teams divided twin programs. San Francisco defeated Seattle 8 to 4 in the opener which saw 11 of the 12 runs scored on eight homers, and Seattle took the seven-inning nightcap, 5 to 4.

The Missions took the first game, 7 to 6, and then lost the second, 6 to 4 in Oakland; Los Angeles took an 11-inning opener from the Portland Beavers, 4 to 3, and then the Beavers turned the tables in the second game, 5 to 1.

L. B. Police Have New Labor Squad

LONG BEACH. (AP)—Chief of Police Joe McClelland announced he had created a special, roving squad of three detective lieutenants to curb labor disorders. Chief McClelland said he would strictly enforce the law against picketing of business places, stop sit-down strikes as violating trespassing ordinances, and prevent "intimidation," "destruction of property," or "assaults on citizens."

Two Local Play Tournament Awards Won By Pasadena

Last year the Pasadena Drama Guild won the cup for the best comedy presented in the annual Southern California Tournament of One-Act Plays. Saturday night at the close of the eleventh annual tournament in Ebell auditorium here, the Guild won two cups.

The comedy presented by the Pasadena Guild, "Evening Dress Indispensable," written by Roland Pertwee and directed by Mrs. Michael Hallward, was adjudged best in the tourney, and also was given the comedy award.

Fred Poulsen, a member of the Guild cast, was given top honors in performances by male actors. Other members of the cast were Margaret Stevens, W. H. Archibald, Carol Hill and Ardis Corliss.

Actress Wins Honor

Second prize went to the Gold Hills Players of Monrovia, for presentation of the play, "Portrait of the Artist's Wife," written by Roland English Hartley and directed by Thelma Laird Shulteis. The award for the best performance by an actress went to Mary Silcott, member of this cast, which also included Emil Kirin, Walter Lambert and Edna Lundberg.

The awards were announced by Havrah Hubbard, San Diego, who with May Rose Borum of Tustin and Florence Hubbard of the U. S. C. School of Speech, judged the plays. Hubbard reviewed the plays briefly, pointing out the faults and good points of each play.

Mayor Officiates

Prize awards were presented by Mayor Fred C. Rowland of Santa Ana, who handed the $50 Charles A. Riggs Memorial cash award to the director of the Pasadena Guild and a cash award of $20 to the Monrovia players. Cups will be forwarded to the winning hespan groups.

The annual tournament ended a successful two-day series of events Saturday at midnight. On Friday plays had been presented by the Modern Mimmers of San Bernardino, the Burbank Theater Guild and the Riverside Community Players. Saturday night the two winning plays, "A Whiff of Christmas," by the Mad Hatters of Los Angeles competed for honors.

Violin Ensemble

A courtesy play, not entered in the competition, was presented Saturday night by the Touchstone Drama Workshop of U. S. C. This play was "The Wonder Hat," by Ben Hecht, directed by LeRoy Zehren. A highlight of the evening came with the presentation of "The Treasurer's Report," an humorous reading given by John Swarthout of the Santa Ana Community Players.

Edward Bear's Senior Ensemble of violins furnished music Saturday night. A dinner preceded the evening's program, which was followed by an informal reception.

The tournament is sponsored by the Santa Ana Community Players. Mrs. Robert Horn acted as tournament director.

SUBPOENA GIVEN GRETA GARBO

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Greta Garbo, elusive Swedish star, was under subpoena today in a $10,500 recovery suit filed in connection with a loan she allegedly obtained in 1924.

A process server, after a three weeks' pursuit, finally tossed the summons into her lap when her limousine stopped at a street signal. Attorney James P. McCarthy disclosed.

The suit was brought by H. Fitzpatrick, assignee for David Shtratter, former Berlin producer, who claimed to have lent the actress $10,500 when she was obscure.

As defendant, she is identified as Greta Gustafson, her true name. Trial is tentatively set for May 3.

SPECIALTY CROP INCOME JUMPS

From supplying $14,000 toward reducing cooperative avocado growers' marketing costs in the 1932-33 season, the income earned from handling greater volumes of specialty-crop items, other than avocados, last season had jumped to $85,000, and is expected to exceed $100,000 during the current season, according to Manager George B. Hodgkin of the Calavo Growers of California.

The income earned by nationally marketing rapidly growing volumes of such specialty-crop items as California limes, dates and figs, and Florida limes, avocados and mangoes, goes to reduce or absorb much of the cooperative avocado growers' total marketing costs. During one month last summer the income came within $67 of absorbing the grower organization's entire costs, including field, packing, sales and administrative costs.

The present season's income from specialty-crop sales is expected to be sufficient to maintain the entire sales staff of the avocado growers' cooperative organization, even if there were not a pound of avocados produced, the Calavo executive added. In addition, contract negotiations for next season are now under way which could double the present season's record income from sideline items.

Latest field reports from growers, taking into account frost-damaged trees, indicate that the coming cooperative growers' crop will range between 6,000,000 and 12,000,000 pounds under normal conditions. This estimated tonnage compares with 8,500,000 pounds net, for this season.

SANTA ROSA HAS $140,000 FIRE

SANTA ROSA. (AP)—Two mysterious fires early today caused damage estimated by Fire Chief William Muenster at $140,000.

Muenster said he believed both blazes were incendiary and ordered a search for the three men reported seen running away from the vicinity of the fires.

The first fire started in the warehouse and store of the Stone Furniture company. A general alarm was sounded as the flames spread rapidly. While firemen were fighting the furniture store blaze a fire was discovered at the warehouse of the Mallory Brothers Auto Wrecking company, four blocks southwest.

Firemen were forced to divide forces and only after receiving aid from volunteers were they able to bring the two fires under control.

'Probation After Death' Science Church Subject

The subject of the Christian Science lesson-sermon was "Probation After Death," on Sunday in all branches of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The golden text was from Revelation: "I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, Write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them."

The Bible citations in the lesson-sermon included these selections from Revelation: "And I saw a great white throne, and him that sat on it, from whose face the earth and the heaven fled away; . . . And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new. And he said unto me, Write, for these words are true and faithful. He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son."

The lesson-sermon presented also these words from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, "Every mortal at some period, here or hereafter, must grapple with and overcome the mortal belief in a power opposed to God."

Franchise Tax Is 19 Cents; Cost More For Mailing!

Talk about major transactions! The Los Angeles Gas and Electric company, which sold its properties to the city of Los Angeles in January, cleaned up its franchise tax to Orange county Saturday.

The tax, which was due up until March 1, is levied on use of overhead wires, of which the gas and electric company owned approximately one-tenth of a mile in Orange county.

Taxes came to 19 cents, and were mailed on a regular company check to County Treasurer Terry E. Stephenson. Cost of registering the mail came to 21 cents, more than the tax itself!

SCIENCE FINDS DRUG POWERS

MEMPHIS. (AP)—A drug which increases the ease of fast walking by about 14 per cent and which upsets theories that in the human body normal perfection cannot be improved upon was reported to the Federation of American societies for experimental biology.

This scientific surprise was furnished by Cortin, a hormone obtained from the glands of beef, small cap-shaped bodies above the kidneys. Some of this hormone, was given to eight men and three women by Fred A. Hitchcock and R. C. Grubbs of the department of physiology, Ohio State university.

The effects were measured in changes in their breathing while lying down, standing and walking rapidly. In all cases their bodies required less oxygen and breathing was easier.

Although cortin has no known connection with sexual development, Dr. Kendall pointed out the curious fact it is chemically very nearly the same as the male sex hormones. Cortin controls the body's retention of salt. More important, it keeps the body's potassium properly distributed. Although potassium is a powerful

CONTROL ACT FOR COAL SIGNED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt today signed the Guffey-Vinson bill, marking a second federal attempt to stabilize the soft coal industry — this time through price fixing alone.

The new law, which becomes effective June 1 for a four-year period, is a substitute for the original Guffey coal act, invalidated by the supreme court last year.

Stripped of the labor provisions to which the court objected, the new law empowers an enlarged national bituminous coal commission to prescribe minimum prices for coal, promulgate a code of fair trade practices for producers, and fine violators 18 1/2 per cent of the sale price of their coal at the mine.

The commission also may fix maximum prices to protect consumers from so-called "runaway" markets.

ASK SUPPORT FOR NAVAL RULING

Local Group Supports Change in Law on Sugar Ratio

Announcing that the present standardization law for navel oranges, if not changed, would over the next few years confiscate the groves of the present navel owners, Jack Zinn of La Habra, chairman of the citrus department of the Orange County Farm bureau, made the following statement today:

"The citrus department of the Orange County Farm bureau, working with the navel orange growers and the citrus marketing organizations in northern Orange county, has appointed a special legislative committee consisting of Harold Lang of Fullerton, chairman, Elmer Nichols of Garden Grove and J. E. McLeod of Anaheim to work with the industry in securing the adoption by the present legislature of A. B. 2837 introduced April 12 by Thomas Kuchel, assemblyman from Orange county.

Affects This County
"This bill will change the sugar to acid ratio of the navel standard of 7 1/2 to 1 after January 15 and directly concerns Orange county. A record of over 1500 tests by the agricultural commissioners' office during January and February over the last four-year period shows that one-third of samples taken from fruit which the packing houses had picked believing it met the tests, indicates that 8 to 1 is too high for navel oranges in this district and that large quantities of them will drop to the ground before they will meet the percentage.

"The law was changed from 6 1/2 to 1 to 8 to 1 in 1931. Navel growers in this county made no protest, feeling their fruit could reach the test; however, six years of experience have shown that many groves will not reach the test at all and that most groves will have large quantities of puffy, hollow-centered fruit before it can be reached."

Reasonable Request
"Our citrus department felt that the request of navel growers that they be permitted to ship when their fruit reaches 7 1/2 to 1 after January 15 was a reasonable request, and our citrus department unanimously gave its support, which was approved by the board of directors.

"These growers would appreciate any support that any grower or individual may give to this bill. It is an important one. Assemblyman Kuchel is making a hard fight to secure its passage. His efforts should be commended by all growers."

Coronation Curiosities

By HAROLD S. CORBIN

One of a series of 18 articles explaining some of the novel phases in the crowning of King George VI of England on May 12, and citing historical precedents for them.

CORONATION BIG BOY

To red-blooded Brits it is a matter of regret that the office of king's champion has become so innocuous in coronation ceremonies that the champion now merely carries the standard of England in the parade. Certainly as performed in feudal times, the job of champions was a striking part of the formalities.

In the ancient custom he appeared in the midst of the post-coronation banquet in Westminster Hall. After the king had been given his first drink of wine at the banquet, and with a grand gesture had presented the silver-gilt bowl to the chief cupbearer as his fee, there came a blare of trumpets. Forthwith appeared quite an entourage, composed of two active trumpeters, a sergeant-trumpeter, two sergeants-at-arms, two esquires carrying the champion's lance and target, and a herald.

Then on horseback, accompanied by the high constable and the earl marshal, also on horseback, came the champion. His herald uttered a long challenge, dating from early times:

"If any person, of what degree soever, high or low, shall deny or gainsay our sovereign lord—King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, defender of the faith, etc., son and next heir to the imperial crown of this realm of Great Britain and Ireland, or that he ought not to enjoy the same; here is his champion, who saith that he lieth, and is a false traitor, being ready in person to combat with him; and in this quarrel will adventure his life against him, on what day soever he shall be appointed."

Or, in modern-day parlance: "Anyone here want to fight about it?"

The champion then threw down his gauntlet and the challenge was repeated twice more. The king, perhaps with a sense of relief, would take another long swig of wine and give that bowl to the champion. There is no record that the challenge ever was accepted.

ORANGE IS FIFTH IN RECEIPTS

BOARD MEETS AT RANCHO GARDEN ENROLLMENT OF SCOUTS BOOSTED

Leaders Convene For First Time In Year At Plant Refuge

Convening for the first time in nearly a year, the board of trustees and the garden staff of the Rancho Santa Ana Botanic garden met at the rancho Saturday.

During the morning the board inspected the nursery, garden sanctuary, and the garden plantings on the grounds.

Luncheon was held at 12:30 in the administration building, and following that the entire group met for a conference in the herbarium.

Board Meets

At 4 o'clock, the board of trustees held a separate meeting. At present the sponsors of the Rancho Santa Ana, which is a botanical garden for the observation of native California species, are carrying on an investigation of cypress fungus disease.

This is only one of many services to plant conservation being performed by the garden, Terry E. Stephenson, historian of the Rancho Santa Ana, said.

The gardens, which are located in Santa Ana canyon, were founded by Mrs. Susanna Bixby Bryant.

Visitors' Days

The gardens will be open to visitors on Friday, April 2, and will be open every Friday thereafter during the months of April, May and June. May 1 will be observed as Santa Ana day at the gardens.

On each visitors' day a wild flower display is provided in a section of the propagating nursery. At 2:30 p. m. on each visitors' day a member of the garden staff will give a short, informal talk on some special phase of the California flora or worthwhile plant of the state.

Picnic Facilities

In keeping with similar projects sponsored by garden clubs throughout the country, about five acres in the Orange county plant sanctuary have been set aside for the growing of plants native to the county.

Picnic facilities are provided in the plant sanctuary, and a number of tables have been installed to provide for large groups as well as small parties. Reservations may be made in advance.

The figures represented a net increase of two sea scouts and 210 land scouts.

Cub scout figures revealed the only membership drop. April 22 there were 249 registered in the under-twelve group as against 283 at the first of the year.

The report also disclosed that scouts had won a total of 479 merit badges since the first of the year and that 436 land and sea scouts had made other advances in rank and achievement.

City Population Now 32,664

The population of Santa Ana is 32,664. This is the figure derived from the method used by the city in determining the average meters per population. Since metering of Santa Ana started in 1890, the population of Santa Ana has grown from 3628 people to its present number. A checking of the official census shows that its population has approximately doubled every 10 years up to the last census taken in 1930. Growth has slackened since that time.

One meter was installed in 1890 and since that time the number of meters has increased to its present number, 9468. The estimate of 32,664 was made on the assumption that there are approximately three persons to each meter in Santa Ana.

Santa Ana, at the present time, has incorporated within the city, 6730 acres. It has not changed since 1929. The original size was 5666 acres.

Memories of Ceremony Fifty Years Ago are Recalled on Golden Wedding Day

Two Hundred Friends at Reception

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Warner Honored on Anniversary

Masses of lovely golden blooms, their color symbolic of the fiftieth wedding anniversary which was being celebrated on the happy occasion, filled every room of the E. G. Warner home at 1516 Wilhite street yesterday when Mr. and Mrs. Warner received calls and congratulations from 200 of their Santa Ana and Southland friends.

Memories of their wedding of April 25, 1887, solemnized in the city of Chicago by the late Rev. Mr. H. W. Bolton, were recalled by the couple as they marked this half-century milestone on their calendar.

Memories of their days in Chicago, where the young bridegroom had been working in the post-office following an early-day trip to the west—of still earlier days in Pennsylvania, home state of both their families—of childhood days of their two daughters, Katherine, now Mrs. J. L. Barnard of Pasadena, and Marjorie, now Mrs. L. C. Moore of Honolulu—of their arrival in California in 1904, and the years they spent in Pasadena before coming in 1917 to Santa Ana and of their life on the ranch which has been their home ever since coming to this city.

Daughter Assists
All added to the delight of the day which they had planned, with the assistance of their Pasadena daughter and Mrs. Warner's sister, Mrs. Nina Staples, to celebrate the anniversary.

Mrs. Warner was in a lovely blue velvet gown with a corsage of Taisman roses to receive the many friends who called to extend their congratulations to the couple.

In the receiving line with her were her husband of 50 years, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Barnard, and their grandson, Jack Barnard, and his wife.

The other daughter, whose husband is a lieutenant in the United States navy, was unable to participate in the festivities, they and their two young children, Sally Ann and Jimmy, being stationed in Honolulu.

Mrs. Staples, sister of the hostess, took charge of the door, greeting guests, and was assisted in her duties by Miss Margaret Schaefer of Corona del Mar.

Two hundred and fifty invitations had been issued for the reception, to friends here and in the east, and about 200 responded in person during the receiving hours yesterday afternoon and evening, the others sending messages and greeting cards which contributed also to the happiness of the Warners on this happy day.

Among the guests who were present yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schuster of Pasadena, who are perhaps most closely associated of all their friends with the wedding memories of the Warners, who spent the evening before their marriage with that couple in their Wisconsin home.

In Civic Life Here
Mr. and Mrs. Warner have a host of friends in and around Santa Ana, with the civic life of which they have been closely identified ever since they came here to establish their home.

Serving several years on the city council, during which time he was prominent in movements toward civic improvement, Mr. Warner was later elected mayor and filled that position ably for his adopted home.

Both he and Mrs. Warner are active in the Richmond Avenue Methodist church, and Mrs. Warner is also prominent in the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Woman's club.

They are also identified with the farm bureau.

Among the many messages received by the couple was a telegram of congratulation from their daughter in Honolulu.

Several surprises were also in store for the couple, one the presentation of an engraved resolution, presented by Mayor F. C. Rowland, which had been passed at a recent meeting of the city council, extending congratulations to the former mayor and his wife.

WED FIFTY YEARS AND ONE DAY

Festivities yesterday at the E. G. Warner ranch home on Wilhite street recalled a ceremony of 50 years ago in Chicago, in which Miss Artie Johnson became the bride of Elbert G. Warner. The picture above was taken at the time of that ceremony on April 25, 1887.

The Rev. J. H. Odger, pastor of their church here, and formerly of Chicago, was present and made a short speech, as did also Frank Conklin, one of their friends, as he presented them with a box of gold.

Lovely golden blooms and yellow candles formed the centerpiece for the lace-spread table at which Mrs. Harry Gaspar, a cousin of Mrs. Warner, and Mrs. A. A. Johnson, a sister-in-law from Los Angeles, poured during the afternoon, and Mrs. Frank Conklin and Mrs. D. J. Stull in the evening. Mrs. Schuster also assisted in the dining room.

That Mrs. M. R. Daughters will lead the Friday book club for the coming year was decided at an election held when that group met last Friday at the home of Mrs. E. D. Froeschle, 2205 S. Santiago street. Those who will serve with her are Mrs. W. A. Davidson, vice-president, and Mrs. Froeschle, secretary.

Mrs. John Bower reviewed Pearl Buck's first American novel, "Now and Forever," and after her interesting presentation, a group discussion was enjoyed. Roll call was responded to with titles of a book or article that had been found interesting. Those present included Mrs. Luella Blackburn, Mrs. F. E. Eard, Mrs. R. I. Matthews, Mrs. E. C. Miss Culp will be married sometime in June to Harlan Johnson, of Orange. Winners in bridge were Miss Hattie Nobs, Mrs. Marsden and Miss Avis Middleton, all of Orange.

Other guests at the surprise affair were Miss Nita Walton, Miss Florence Middleton, Mrs. O. J. Johnson, Mrs. Percy Everett and Mrs. Ernest Ross, Orange; Mrs. Mary B. Robertson, Santa Ana.

Members who have served on Mrs. Bond's executive board this year were invited to the party which was a dessert bridge, each bringing a little gift handkerchief for their leader.

Mrs. R. D. Flaherty won high prize in the bridge games which ensued, with low award going to Mrs. Leonard Hamaker. Others present were the Mesdames R. E. Steinberger, James Givens and E. E. Frisby, and the guest of honor and hostess.

Bon Voyage Seymour Paul Party For Farwells

Among the many delightful courtesies being extended to the Lyman Farwells, before their departure this week for England and a sojourn in Europe, was a Sunday supper party at which Mrs. Sara Johnston Haddon entertained for them on Sunday in her home at 202 1/2 South Sycamore street.

Gifts for the travelers added to the pleasure of the informal evening following the supper, the hostess presented Mrs. Farwell with a monogrammed handbag and Mr. Farwell with a traveling clock. Mrs. Raymond Smith, Mrs. Farwell's sister, who is leaving this week also for her home in Carmel, following a six-week visit in the county, was also the recipient of a gift, Mrs. Haddon presenting her with a set of crystal candlesticks to take back with her.

Guests, besides Mr. and Mrs. Farwell, were the honored guests' two little daughters, Barbara and Nancy, to whom Mrs. Haddon is godmother; Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Swales and W. H. Haddon.

For their second meeting, the group will join in the annual Founders' Day banquet in Los Angeles in November. A tea and business meeting in the spring and a social meeting in the summer will be the other events each year.

ROOK CLUB HAS DINNER PARTY

A delicious dinner preceded a regular session of the Neighborhood Rook club held this week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meier on East Chapman street. Place-cards and tallies were combined, and their rose motif accented the lovely salmon and crimson roses which centered each of two large tables.

Mrs. and Mrs. Meier had asked Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Bohling of Fullerton, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lowry of Orange, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur West of Los Angeles to substitute for Mr. and Mrs. William Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Coate, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry V. Groat.

Members present were the Messrs. and Mesdames Fred L. Wilson, L. R. Stearns, Walter West, H. E. Kinslow, Etta Hutton, Jerry Youngs, and Herbert W. Walker.

A GUERDON
Valiant is a brave word:
It lifts my spirit high
And with it as a weapon
I can make the dark fears fly.

Valiant is a warm word:
It wraps me round about
And keeps my hopes all safe
With its warm, warm glow.

My chilling cares, without
Valiant is a strong word:
It needs no masquerade
To move in sun or shadow
Serenely unafraid.

Valiant is a strong word:
It yields a mighty power
That grows by freer using . . .
Increases hour by hour.

So I, poor faulty mortal
Shall bolster up my pride
With valiant as my guerdon
Shall take life in my stride.

"THE PATCHWORK QUILT"
MOCKING BIRD AT NIGHT
I think I heard a star last night
. . . I woke
Suddenly wide-eyed, as though
A Presence spoke,
But there was no one there. In all
The night

I was alone. There was one ray
Of light
I followed with my eyes, so straight, so far . . .
It led me to a smiling, friendly
star.

Then came that lovely whisper in
the night,
A shining sound of exquisite delight.
So faint it was, so soft, yet full and round
Naught but a star could make that magic sound,
And yet you try to tell me 'twas
a bird.

Ah you are wrong. It was a star
I heard.

Seymour Paul Exhibit At Library

By DONALD RUTTON
The graphic impressions of Mexico upon Seymour Paul of Laguna Beach and San Diego, will constitute the next library exhibition, opening tomorrow. This is the fifth in a series of exhibits arranged by Miss Ethel Walker, city librarian.

Paul recently returned from a two-and-one-half month's tour of Mexico that was marked by adventure, hardship and misfortune only a car and Mexican roads, in combination, could make possible. His work had been previously marred by a strong sense of color and pattern, rhythm. These have been intensified, and added to them, greater depth of feeling. New scenes, new faces heighten interest in his work.

His picture, "Chapala Bay" (painted since his return), won honorable mention in the current Laguna Gallery show that pivots upon Jade Font's "Eucalyptus Trees."

The library show here are drawings from the same series the Frances Toor Galleries in Mexico City are showing, prints from Paul's subscription.

Preview interest centered upon the heads of a boy, of a girl, done with two pencils. Well-spaced within their frames, they are full of character.

Interesting for its semi-abstract design qualities and technique is still another "Girl's Head," the fourth in the print series.

As has been the custom, the show at the library will continue for two weeks.

JOYCE DAVIS IS HONORED AT DINNER

Miss Joyce Davis of Downey, formerly of Santa Ana, was guest of honor at a dinner party given by Miss Peggy Louise Parkinson last Friday night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Parkinson, 1001 East Edgemoor street.

Neighbors and playmates since they were three years old, Peggy and Joyce have also been schoolmates in the sixth grade of Edison school, where Joyce attended until she moved a few months ago.

Guests at the party, all except one, were also sixth grade classmates of Joyce. Centerpiece for the dining table at dinner was a miniature maypole on a mirror, made by a friend of the Parkinsons.

Following dinner, the competitive game of beano was played with Ethel Mae Hazen winning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meier on East Chapman street. Place-cards and tallies were combined, and their rose motif accented the lovely salmon and crimson roses which centered each of two large tables.

Guests for the occasion included Eleanor Patrick, Betty Lu Rowe, Alice Smith, Ethel Mae Hazen, Jeannette Hossfeld, Christine Hansen, and Joyce Davis.

TROTTER'S CLUB GIVES DINNER

MARY STODDARD

Young Divorced Woman Wants to Marry Again Against Mother's Advice

By MARY STODDARD

Be careful when picking out a husband, particularly a second husband if he is to be the step-father of your child. This young woman wants a home but at the same time wants to be fair to her own mother who disapproves of her choice and also to her little daughter whom the man doesn't love. It is hard to remake your life after a divorce but it can be done if planned carefully. Read this letter and hear one woman's story.

Dear Miss Stoddard: Your unbiased viewpoint will mean a great deal to me in my uncertain state of mind.

I am in my early 30's. I was married when I was 24. My mother did not approve of it then, but we were married at home. About three years later I had a baby girl who is now almost seven years old.

About three years ago, my husband left as I was ill and had to go out of town or special treatments.

My mother loves my little girl as if she were her own. She has taken care of her for such a long time, when I was not able to and had to be away.

I got a divorce so am free, but just as soon as ever I talk about remarrying she cries and says if I get married again it will shorten her life many years. She has always been a very good mother. I was home until I married, but worked, so I was independent.

I met a young man about a year ago, but he is only 24. We love each other, but I don't dare mention it to my mother. He has been home with me twice, but she does not like him.

He wants me to marry him but there seems to be so much in my way. He says he hates to think that I've been married, and once he said my little girl would be a constant reminder. I cannot understand this attitude.

Do you think marriages where there is such a difference in age are wise?

I have thought maybe it would not be fair to my little girl when he feels that way, or would he change his mind if he loves me enough?

His mother and step-dad like me very much and I like them too. Mother wants me to stay home with her and my dad.

My brother is married, but she doesn't seem to mind that. Why does she disapprove of me getting married? She just wants me to be home always.

I have always tried to be kind to mother, trying not to hurt her in any way.

I long for a home of my own, or at least I do not like to think of going through life alone, although I think of my little girl's future. Are stepsisters so terrible? Or should I just get a good job and devote all my time to it and the bringing up of my daughter? This letter will sound mixed up to you Miss Stoddard, but that's the way I feel and what you will say is going to help me I know. Thanks.

B.H.

Dear B. H. thanks very much for writing to me. Now in the first place you say you are in your early thirties and still you can't make up your mind as to men, after having been married and divorced and having a daughter? I would suggest that you sit down with your mother who, no doubt, has your best interests at heart, and have a heart to heart talk about why she doesn't want you to marry this man. Remember my dear, you have made a mess of your first marriage and therefore should take a little advice before jumping into a second. From your description of this man whom you love, it sounds as though he is a selfish, egotistical man who is too young for you. After all if he were really in love with you he would be more than glad to have your lovely little girl

Jones, Gillett Wed Here Friday

White blossoms against a chancel of gold candlesticks at the altar of Melrose Abbey chapel formed the setting for the marriage at 8 o'clock Friday night of Miss Genevieve Jones and William Gillett Jr., both of Orangeforth road, Fullerton. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Watson, Orangeforth road, Fullerton, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gillett of Venice.

The Rev. Graham C. Hunter, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Fullerton, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, gowned in white starched lace over satin, with a white tulle over-the-face veil and long tulle and satin, marched down an aisle lined with white candles, ferns and palms. Floor baskets of white larkspur, snaps, and baby-breath completed the decorations.

Maid of honor to the bride was Jean McCallister, who wore a violet dress and carried Japanese iris bouquets.

Bridesmaids included Virginia Le Grange, Santa Barbara; Margaret Mahoney, Long Beach; Leona Lytle, Bakersfield; Doris Clark, Oakland, and Winifred Crawford of Glendale. All were gowned in chartruese and carried Japanese iris bouquets.

Oral Carpenter of Palm Springs was best man of the groom, with Harry Gillett, Jay McAulay, William Crawford, Howard Parker, Charles Lytle and Emory Jordan acting as ushers.

In a brief musical program preceding the ceremony, Mrs. C. C. Jones of Los Angeles played an organ prologue, and Mr. A. Knight of Los Angeles, baritone, sang two vocal numbers, "O Promise Me" and "Till the Sands of the Desert Grow Cold."

Three hundred guests attended the wedding, following which a brief reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Watson on Orangeforth road.

The newlyweds left for a honeymoon at Salt Lake City, the bride gowned in a three-piece tan going-away suit, with fox collar. The junior Gilletts will make their future home on Orangeforth road.

A graduate of Fullerton High school and junior college, the bride attended Santa Barbara college. Mr. Gillett is at present manager of a Fullerton service station.

STUDY REVIEW
The Rev. Mr. P. F. Schrock of the First Congregational church will review another chapter from Gordon Gilkey's book, "Getting Help from Religion," at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in the church bungalow. The topic this time will be "Recognizing God's Presence. Activities" and from the Bible he will take a message from "The Gospel According to Luke."

PIANIST, 14, IS SOLOIST TONIGHT

William Kapell Will Play Beethoven, Chopin Music on KVOE

Vandiver, as a matter of fact, would not enclose "scientists" in quotation marks, because he has found in talking with Osgood Perkins, the noted American actor, and Tommy Turner, stage-manager for Homer Curren productions, that entertaining the average American can be and often is very much a science.

BATTLE OF THE BALLOONS

Felix Nadar, one of the founders of the "balloon mail," was bound for Paris from Tours one afternoon in 1870 when he noticed another balloon in the air. He saw the pilot of the other balloon hoist the German flag. Nadar opened fire. The German balloonist did likewise, fired a few shots, then gave up the duel, and soared up beyond range of the Frenchman's gun.

THE REAL HOBBY-HORSE

Believed to have originated with "Hobba," Icelandic for "mare," the word "hobby" was adopted in Ireland as the breed name of a strong, medium-sized horse. The word "hobby" eventually came to be applied to favorite pastimes as well as horses.

ROSSINI

Gioacchino Antonio Rossini was badly in need of a barber when he was through writing the music for "The Barber of Seville." The opera took him only 13 days to compose. He worked straight through, not even taking time out to shave.

The Anti-Lynching Bill

A MOB which tortured a man to death recently focused the nation's attention on a most important measure now before congress—a measure to make lynching a federal offense, subject to imprisonment.

Anti-lynching bills have come before congress before, and have been beaten down by a solid bloc of states. This time, however, the currently proposed measure has a better chance of success.

In the past, it has been held that an anti-lynching law would be unconstitutional in that it would usurp state rights. However, the new interpretation of the constitution is that it is a humane document, designed to serve us in this more humane era, just as it did in the stern "eye for an eye" period of the last century.

More and more the constitution is being interpreted as an instrument designed to protect the individual from those who infringe on his rights. Surely there can be no greater infringement on those rights than to take life itself without orderly trial!

The one excuse for lynching, in years gone by, was that there was no recognized system of law strong enough to punish criminals. Citizens occasionally were forced to act as judge, jury and executioner, in order to keep the lawless element from getting out of hand.

But that is changed now. We have our state and federal courts. It is true that there are many delays and loopholes in our present law enforcement system, but these are gradually being eliminated. It is pretty certain that the average prospective lynching victim would get his just deserts if left in the hands of the law.

Mob rule and mob violence are abhorrent to our American sense of fair play. If congress will follow the dictates of the greater part of the nation it will pass some form of anti-lynching law, and pass it this session.

"Be Kind to Dumb Animals" day was recently celebrated by the state senate, but the rabbits and dogs of the state received no benefits from the day's discussion. The legislators couldn't decide whether it was cruel for a dog to chase bunny, or whether the rabbit was unjustifiably mean in enticing the pup.

See the West This Summer

VACATION time is near at hand—and this land of the free is still a very beautiful country, we hear. Some of the very finest scenery in the West is right along our own Pacific coast, whether you find it in Southern California or in Oregon and Washington.

If you prefer to pilot your rubber-tired home inland, Yosemite park, Grand canyon and distant Yellowstone offer a sight that will linger in the memory for many years.

Or why not a two-week rest at one of the many beaches, swimming, fishing or sun-bathing?

And there are dozens of cozy campsites in the canyons of the coastal and inland ranges—with running brooks, murmuring trees and all the things the poets sing about.

Do your traveling slowly. Go by car, bus, train, bicycle or burro—but take it easy and see the West this summer.

Most successful sit-down strike of the current epidemic was staged by a man in Australia. He said he was a tiger trainer, and sat in the tiger's cage until the management agreed.

The Schools Have Changed

CALIFORNIA Public Schools week starts today, proclaimed officially in Santa Ana by Mayor Rowland. Parents and taxpayers are invited cordially to visit the schools and get a close-up of how our mighty educational system works.

This is as it should be. Taxpayers should look the schools over because over half the tax dollar is spent in them. And parents, of course, should be acquainted with the environment in which their youngsters spend a large part of the day.

There is a surprise waiting for folks who haven't been inside a school since three or four decades ago. In the "good old days" schools were institutions of drudgery which the children disliked. That's all changed now—thanks to modern educational methods—and most youngsters find real enjoyment in learning the lore of the world.

Who gets the credit for this remarkable improvement? The teacher, of course. If you visit a school this week, be sure to look her up and tell her you are glad. She'll appreciate it.

Talk of war again centers around pleas to "save the world's democracies." We hashed out something like that 20 years ago.

They Are Paying Up the Taxes

WE HAVE frequently stated that general business conditions are definitely improving in Orange county. And now comes County Tax Collector J. C. Lamb who says the same thing in a little different way.

The tax gatherer announces that more than $4,000,000 has been paid in to date, with a lot of mail still to be opened. This is more than 88 per cent of the total to be collected, and the outlook is that delinquencies will be only 5 per cent or less by July 1. Pretty healthy showing, says Mr. Lamb. Pretty fine improvement, echo we.

The thermometer is flirting dangerously near 90 these days. And to think that there was ice in the gutters here two months ago.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

Diary: Up and ragged by my wife over my pronunciation of Cincinnati and Missouri and we almost had high words. So afoot to sit with Lisie Bell, the book critic, brought to bed six months ago with a fractured leg, and he has composed a wheel chair theme song "Aw, knits!"

A pleasantly thoughtful note from the postmaster general, and Martha Dean came by and left a bouquet for us. And talking to Ward Morehouse whose newest play has just been produced with captivating Peggy Wood as star, and I regard him as one of the crack pamphleteers in America.

Dined at Belle Meunier with the traveled Hattie Bell Johnston, embarking shortly for South Africa and will see Sarah Millen and visit the Holy Land after 10 years. So to the Chatham to bestow a farewell kiss on Kathleen Norrie against Charles G. sailing away with her for the London coronation.

At Dunhill's Jermyn street shop in London there is in a glass case the original pipe Sir Walter Raleigh brought back from America, the first in the old world. It is crudely made but highly ornamental. When Irving Berlin was in London some time ago he offered $5,000 for the pipe. At the moment they were overwhelmed, as one of the early Dunhill's paid only $375 for it. After thinking it over several days, they decided to keep the pipe and present it eventually to the British Museum or perhaps the Henry Ford early American collection.

One of the surest ways to lasting literary popularity it would seem is to create a likeable fiction character. If the public goes for the creation the market is almost inexhaustible. They will want him again and again. Some of the notable examples are Montague Glass' Potash and Perlmutter, Octavus Roy Cohen's Florian Slapppy, Tarkington's Penrod, Ring Lardner's You Know Me Al, H. C. Witwer's dumb prize fighter, Hugh Wiley's Wildcat, Edna Ferber's Mrs. McChesney, Irvin Cobb's Judge Priest, and, of course, Tugboat Annie.

Actors and actresses of the stage seem never able to make their final curtsy when time has relegated them to what should be a pleasant obscurity. There have been several instances in New York lately of former stars trying to make the headlines and actually making themselves ridiculous. Even the great Bernhardt could not resist the temptation to hobble about on crutches, thus bringing the public to see her more as a freak than a great artist. Among the few outstanding who have not tried to "sneak a bow" are David Warfield, Mrs. August Belmont, Maxine Elliott, Maude Adams and Sothern and Marlowe, grand troupers all.

Even sedate dressers are going hotsy-totsy in their jaunty light topcoats. The new style is a Duke of Windsor, which is a dash of checks or stripes that suggest the race-course and other outdoor sporting events. And are worn only now and then merely for variety and the heck of it. Some are one-toned—a light blue, coffee or one of such. Made with a rakish belt and raglan sleeves.

Louis Sobol in his rounds of Broadway discovered the one-time popular singing star, Charles King, singing from table to table in the cafe of a hotel. Sobol noted the engagement and King was immediately given a contract for a part in a forthcoming Broadway production—which is as it should be. King's rendition of "The Wedding of the Paper Dolls" in one of the first musical revues on the scene was one of his achievements in putting a song over. In vaudeville days he was often a headliner at the Palace and not many performers had his gift for wearing full dress or tamping a silk hat at that just-ago angle.

Red to the ears note: We were talking to a certain lady about a remote house on Long Island for the summer. And she observed she would like to have the chauffeur live on the place. Adding: "I would not want to live in the country without a man around." (Copyright, 1937)

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—Mrs. Roosevelt is always so anxious to please that her charm sometimes gets the President and his associates into trouble.

Without knowing it, she has been used by Puerto Rican insurgents to help undermine her husband's own officials in Puerto Rico.

What happened was that Mrs. Roosevelt some time ago became acquainted with Luis Munoz Marin, young Puerto Rican political leader, introduced to her by a newspaper correspondent. As time passed, Marin became one of the chief fomenters of anti-U. S. A. agitation in the island.

This agitation has become more and more heated, culminating in the shooting of a parade of Puerto Rican insurgents not long ago.

About this time, Luis Munoz Marin asked for an interview with Mrs. Roosevelt, and thanks to the pressure of the newspaper correspondent, who is a close friend of Mrs. Roosevelt, it was granted.

Result was that next day, Puerto Rican papers featured the news that Mrs. Roosevelt had received one of the leaders of the anti-American movement. The inference was that she favored this leader and opposed Dr. Ernest Gruening, her husband's director of insular affairs.

Word has now been passed to the First Lady to be more careful about the people she interviews.

Note—Impartial observers who have studied the Puerto Rican situation believe Dr. Gruening and Governor Winship are doing a good job in a trying situation. Most people don't realize it, but Puerto Rican agitators are often as fully armed as Hitler's Brown Shirts. The recent shooting occurred when demonstrators appeared carrying rifles. Permission had been given them to parade without rifles, but they showed up with them.

CCC EDUCATION

The question of who shall determine what the CCC boys are taught in their spare hours has stirred up a hot rumorm in inner administration circles.

IDEALS, PERSONALITY

To the Editor: Today we hear so much about the word personality and comparatively nothing is said about ideals. Without high ideals there cannot be a strong, fine personality. It is an indefinable quality that comes from within, expressed by the God consciousness which everyone feels but cannot define.

It means not to follow the crowd no matter what the consequence, when that crowd is taking the path which is against our highest ideals. It is not the popular or easier path but the reward for the self discipline of determination to hold fast and be true to the best in one's self. It compensates for all the small petty popularities of the group who refuse to climb the hill and make the effort for the greater vision beyond.

One pays his own penalty when he lets down his ideals not only by his loss of self respect but by the loss of the respect of others. Why not have courses in our schools from kindergarten to college in Ideals?

The development of ideals not only brings freedom from the slavery of habit but it gives us the strength and courage to decide with firmness between right and wrong in all our daily actions. We all admire fine personalities and many persons are striving to attain this end by various superficial means, but they neglect the foundation and fundamentals of ideals which alone can develop what the world calls personalities.

Like everything worth possessing in this world we are obliged to work for it and each one is free to choose the path he wishes to follow, so let us try to live up to our highest ideals by constant alertness, watchfulness and prayer for the strength to succeed.—L. T.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

APRIL 26, 1912

SPRINGFIELD, Mass.—President Taft, in a speech in the public square this afternoon, which bristled with indignation, declared Roosevelt did not give him a square deal and mistreated and distorted facts concerning his administration. He named Roosevelt over and over again in answering charges made by the Colonel.

District Attorney L. A. West is probably the hardest-worked official of the county, and he has about come to the conclusion that his work is a great deal more than he can attend to with his present office force. And that being the case, he will probably ask for a second deputy district attorney and under the circumstances believes his request will be granted.

Dutton Brothers closed a deal yesterday, in which Y. Ayres of this city purchased the walnut grove belonging to R. M. Harwood of North Main street. The orchard consists of eight acres of fine walnuts and is said to have brought a handsome price.

Inventory of appraisement of the estate of Samson Edwards, deceased, was filed today showing the estate worth $108,000. The appraisers are D. C. Pixley, J. G. Quick, and O. M. Robbins.

WORLD TRADE CONFERENCE

There is more behind the visit of Belgium's Premier Van Zeeland than the administration wants to admit.

Questioned about it at a press conference, Roosevelt dismissed the matter with a wave of his hand and the statement that Van Zeeland was coming over to get an honorary degree from Princeton.

Actually the Belgian is coming over, in effect, to take up Cordell Hull on his talk about trade conferences.

Europe so long has been hearing Mr. Hull harp on his thesis that the way to bring about world peace is to better world trade, that it has now decided to see whether this is real talk or just state department prattle.

Van Zeeland, a very competent young statesman who got part of his education in the USA, actually is the stooge for the French and British in making this pilgrimage. Upon his conversations here will largely depend the proposal for holding another world economic conference.

Every father and mother in that town knew about Adam Hobson. Adam traveled in my set, which means that he was in the first or second grade of the town's one school. Two grades were housed in each of its eight rooms.

Everybody knew that Adam was simply unmanageable. If some member of his family spoke too sharply to Adam he would simply lie down on the floor. If there was an errand to run or a chore to do, it was always Gilbert, Adam's twin brother—who had to do it.

The vaguest suggestion to Adam that he exert himself to the tiniest degree for the common good

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

I've been expecting it. Proposal to form a communist organization. Which leads me to remark that if all the communists in the United States were placed end to end there would be enough agrarian fertility to insure a bumper crop. My understanding is that the movement, every one of which has a meaning all its own, will be tested out on the California communists, and has the endorsement of Ed. Ainsworth. Once launched there is no telling where this wave of communists organization will go, but I have my suspicion. If I could prove by some focus pocus my eligibility I would affiliate, but my impression is they want communists. However, a liberal interpretation of qualifications may offer a loophole so I can crawl through, and I can get through a mighty small space.

The American Legion galloping goose is having a hard time to find a home. Last time information came to me about its location was at the home of Otto Jacobs. Evidently it was an unwelcome guest as Otto asked for a change of venue.

Invited to intervene in a domestic dispute. The history of such intrusions is that if you don't get your block dislocated, you lose a friend. Then there is the old warning about fools rushing in where angels fear to tread. The invitation is fraught with so many fearful potentialities that I shied, even while admitting that "blessed are the peacemakers." Guess I'll send a substitute.

My approval of that wave of improvement sweeping the business section which means better sidewalks. For a time some of the walks offered a menace. A few of them looked like gophers had been at work. Property owners, so I am informed, are responsible for accidents caused by defective walks in front of their property. It is cheaper to repair than defend damage suits. And then the city looks so much better.

Those scales which refuse to accept your weight for record unless you can push the indicator past the 100 mark have been kind to me. I have about an eight pound leeway. But should the rule require a 10 natural it would drive me to an apothecary shop.

"Doc" Long, whose temporary entry into the journalistic profession disturbed the political tranquility of Anaheim and the county, circulated in Santa Ana Friday. He is still a close observer of local political procedure, one of which he is in disagreement. "Doc" still insists that just common horse sense should supplant the fallacies through which our country is now passing, and he hopes the passing will be swift.

Newspaper heading: "Britain's Loveliest Ladies to Carry Queen's Train." Of course it will be streamline.

Most residents of Orange county have a sensitive feeling, when it comes to climate. They are quick to detect a desert wind, and catch with apprehension its conduct. If laden with electricity grave concern is felt for citrus trees. A method of combating this unwelcome visitor is to keep the groves wet. Those who have tried it say that frequent irrigation during the period of desert wind affords good protection.

"Bill" May has returned from a visit to what he prefers to call the "Hoover" dam. A dam by any other name would mean the same thing if spelled the same way, but there is some political preferment, depending on the administration in power.

Communism is a round-up of human beings where those in authority apply the lash of servitude. It is slavery, as inhuman and degrading as in the days of African bondage. God forbid that America should ever change its freedom for the chains of abjection.

So far I have deflected every attack of spring fever. Not that I possess any super opposition to the little pest, but because I haven't had any place for the spring fever to take hold. Lot of that spring fever stuff is in the air, and an alibi to get away from home or escape house cleaning time.

Objection to the brevity of bathing suits coming from Laguna Beach is in the nature of a surprise. Most people would expect a liberal interpretation from the art colony. But a new ordinance reveals the picturesque and artistic Laguna as viewing with alarm and disapproval bathing suits which are not ample to cover parts of the human anatomy which all of us have but refer to infrequently. That particular portion of the human body which left its testimony by the severance of the umbilical cord is to be covered, and the more generous sections must be hidden. I'm in favor of it. There should be something left for the imagination.
